

Disclaimer

Contributed by
Last Updated Wednesday, 02 August 2006

Website Disclaimer The information published on this web site is for information purposes only and does not constitute, in whole or part, professional or medical advice. While we have taken all reasonable steps to ensure that the information on our web site is error free, we cannot and do not guarantee that the information or images are current, complete and/or accurate and we accept no responsibility for the same. Clinica Media does not accept liability for errors, omissions, delays or interruptions to or cessation of access to this web site, through negligence or for any other reason whatsoever. We do not guarantee that our web site or other web sites will be free from viruses or error in content. Clinica Media does not guarantee the quality, suitability, completeness or accuracy of any information or material to which this web site may be linked. Although we may refer to (and/or link to) other web sites, such referral(s) (and/or links) should not be construed as an endorsement of the referred (or linked) web site(s) itself, nor the contents therein. This notice and the information in this web site and all matters relating thereto are governed by and are to be construed in accordance with the laws applicable in the State of Victoria, Australia.